Sunday, August 31, and Monday, September 1, 2014, visitor center

Good friends of the park Larry Parke and John Walsh return with an impressive display of Civil War era artillery pieces, including some pieces from this campaign. Located in the visitor center museum during visitor center hours of operation.

Saturday, September 6, 2014: 10-noon, 1-3PM, Stewart County Public Library

PIECING THE PAST: A Tribute to Fort Donelson National Battlefield

From beginners to the accomplished quilter, treat yourself to a day with The Hoopster Sisters in piecing a part of the past.

Park visitors of all ages will have an opportunity to make two quilt blocks. One of the quilt blocks you may take home and the other will be donated to the park's lady docents who will gather these quilt blocks and make a quilt for Fort Donelson National Battlefield.

Sunday, September 21, 2014, 3:00 PM Calloway County Public Library, Murray, KY

The Fort Donelson Book Club (Murray Group) continues with a discussion of the 1862/ 1863 Battle of Stones River, using the excellent 2012 edition of Blue and Gray magazine about the battle, written by Park Ranger James Lewis. We will also watch a film about this most important battle.

Saturday, September 27, 2014

Fort Donelson National Battlefield and the Calloway County Public Library co-sponsor a bus trip to Stones River National Battlefield in Murfreesboro, Tennessee, as part of our ongoing Civil War book club community group. Please call (931)232-5706, ext. 108, for more information.

Thursday, September 25, 2014, 6:00 PM, Fort Donelson Visitor Center, Dover.

The Fort Donelson book club, Dover group, discusses the life and significance of Tennessean Andrew Johnson, by reading and talking about Hans Trefousse's Andrew Johnson: A Biography. A limited number of free copies are available for participants.
